Fr. Louis' Corner

In our Gospel this week we hear of Jesus sending the Twelve Apostles out on mission. Jesus has looked with pity on those who come to him; he had compassion for them because they did not have the help from their religious leaders that they needed. So the Twelve were sent and they have sent others to help with their mission. Even to this very day many ministers in the Church are being sent on mission. In the next few weeks, I, and many of my brother priests will be sent on a new mission in our ministry. We have young people coming to our parish from Totus Tuus. They are sent on the mission of helping parishes to form our young people in the faith. Let us give thanks for all of the disciples of Jesus that say yes to being sent on mission. And let us say yes ourselves when the Lord calls us.

Schedule Changes This Week

Faith Formation News

Here we are back in the Season of Ordinary Time. My challenge is for us to take the word "extra" and put it in front of "ordinary," turning the time ahead into "extraordinary" time. I believe one way we can do that is to let go of our idolatry. Most of us think of idolatry as a pagan bowing down to an image carved from wood or stone, reciting mysterious incantations, and carrying out peculiar rituals. But Saint Paul in Colossians says idolatry is much more familiar to us than we realize. All it takes is simple greed ("Thou shall not covet" rings a bell!) Does that mean it is wrong to want better things in life? Of course not. The question is: what is the heart attitude that makes us want any of these things? In the personal hierarchies we make, what winds up ahead of God? And we are all self-made. No one forces greed on us. We make our own gods, and they compete with the one true God.

Prayer Corner:

The kingdom of God is at hand. Repent and believe in the Gospel.
